Wires Eat Kites, And Vice Versa

Charlie Brown in the comic strips has trouble with the "kite-eating tree" and electric power companies in Michigan have trouble each spring with "kite-eating wires."

The annual alert to youngsters flying kites in the vicinity of electric wires has come from R. H. Lawlor, manager of Consumers Power Company's Lansing division.

Starting with distribution of kite flying safety rules to the schools in this area, Lawlor asks parents and teachers to pass on the rules to the youngsters before their kites get tangled in electric equipment in the neighborhood.

"About this same time, each spring," Lawlor said, "we experience a sharp increase in calls about youngsters flying kites close to electric poles and wires. One of our suggestions is that the power company be called if a kite gets snagged in a power line. No one should attempt to climb a power pole."

The power companies suggestions are these:

1. Always use dry string, wood and paper in your kite... not wire or metal.
2. Always fly your kite on days when there is no rain.
3. Always avoid busy streets and highways while flying your kite.
4. Always fly your kite away from TV and radio aerials, electric or power lines.
5. Always keep away from fallen wires.
6. Always call your power company if your kite gets snagged in a power line. Do not pull the string or climb power poles.

"By distributing the safety rules in the schools," Lawlor said, "we hope to forestall a potential tragedy."

It's easy, too. Just dial "1", then the Area Code, if it's different from your own, and the number you want. For an idea of how much you can save, here's an example. A 3-minute Person-to-Person call between Detroit and Chicago costs $1.30 at the day rate. Dial direct and the cost is only 85¢.

Millage Hike Beaten, City Now Hunts New Revenues

Voters gave the City Council a mandate to "hold the line" on city taxes at the polls Monday.

The Council's proposal to raise the city tax limit from 10 mills to 15 mills was snowed under by a margin of more than three to one. Final unofficial vote totals were 1[illegible] in favor of the City Charter amendment and 414 against. Less than one-third — [illegible] — of the city's 1,797 registered voters went to the polls.

The other six proposed amendments, advancing the deadline for payment of city taxes from Oct. 1 to Sept. 1, carried by slim margins.

As a result of Monday's voting, the City Council now has less than a month to bring in a 1969 budget calling for taxes of no more than 10 mills — the limit that has been in effect for many years. The budget must be submitted by the first meeting in April and adopted no later than the third Monday in May.

Monday's results were not known until after the Council had adjourned its regular meeting, but informal discussion afterwards showed that the Council has some new wrinkles up its sleeve to raise revenues.

The first to take effect may be a one-mill special levy to finance operation of the city dump. Mayor Claud Basing had mentioned this earlier and brought it up again Monday night, pointing out that state law authorizes the one-mill levy over and above any charter tax limitation.

Adjoining townships using the city dump would be asked to increase their contributions at the same time.

The second "wrinkle" will probably be a collection fee charged by the city for collecting winter taxes this year. The winter taxes go to the schools and county and the city is legally entitled to tack a one per cent collection fee on the taxes it collects from Eaton Rapids property owners. Last year, and for a number of prior years, the city waived this collection fee.

Another source of revenue, of course, will be increased valuations on real and personal property in Eaton Rapids. The assessment roll as submitted to the Board of Review this week by City Assessor Milford Moore showed an increase of about $475,000 in assessed valuations. If this figure stands, it will bring in $4,750 more for city operations in 1969.

Taypayers received their notices of changes in assessments late last week and the cries of anguish could be heard all the way to Rives Junction. Most of the wails came from Burnside subdivision, where assessments apparently were [illegible] dollars.

Despite the outcries, Pre[illegible] increase a bigger pro[illegible] of "yes" votes than did the other two precincts. It was beaten by less than 3 to 1 in Precinct 3; more than 4 to 1 in Precinct 2, and just over 3 to 1 in Precinct 1.

The remaining six amendments were necessary to advance by one month the various steps of adopting a city budget and collecting city taxes. All carried by margins of 4 to 54 votes. Proposal No. 6, advancing the date city taxes become due and payable from Aug. 1 to July 1, carried by only 4 votes after being voted down, 87 to 82 in Precinct 1.

Here is the vote on the tax limitation increase by precincts:

THE CAR IN WHICH A CHARLOTTE High school senior was killed Friday night is shown at the accident scene on Island Hwy. Jerilyn J. Kirchen, 17, was killed instantly and the front end of the car demolished when it struck a tree. (Photo by Harold Oliver)

Two Die in Crashes Near Eaton Rapids

Two young women, a Charlotte high school senior and an Adrian school teacher, were killed in accidents near Eaton Rapids Friday and Saturday.

Jerilyn J. Kirchen, 17, of 1776 Royston, Charlotte, was killed instantly about 5 p.m. Friday on Island highway northwest of town. Sheriff's officers said the high school girl, who was alone in the car, lost control and the car went off the road and hit a tree headon.

Officers and rescue workers had trouble removing the body from the demolished car. Miss Kirchen was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirchen.

Shortly after noon Saturday, Lorna Gayle Huney, 26, a teacher in Adrian, was fatally injured on M-99 a mile and a half south of town. Sheriff's officers said the northbound car left the road and struck a [illegible]. Miss Kuney was brought to Community hospital here by ambulance and transferred later to Ingham Medical, where she died about 3 p.m. Her death was the seventh this year in Eaton county traffic.

Red Cross Appeals For A-Positive

According to Len Peters, regional chairman, the Red Cross Bloodmobile, coming here Monday, is making a special plea for A-positive blood to be used for heart surgery.

In addition to the need for their regular supply, Peters said, there is a growing need in the heart surgery field.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Masonic Temple Monday, March 18, from 12 noon to 6 p.m.

Walk-ins are welcome.

NOTES By ART CARSTENS

Young Herb Finch just has to be the most faithful fan the Eaton Rapids basketball team has.

Herb never missed a game this season, at home or away. Several other fans can duplicate that record. But how many of them walked all the way to Lakewood — a distance of some 35 miles — for the district semi-final against Charlotte last week?

Herb did.

He was spotted walking out of town about 2:10 Wednesday afternoon. When the team bus passed the blinkerlight near the Lakewood gym at 6:45 p.m., there was Herb, trudging right along.

He didn't have to walk home. Some of the other fans gave him a ride.

* * *

The basketball team, incidentally, paid its own way this year pretty handsomely and helped support some of the other Greyhound sports as well.

The capacity crowds that attended most of the home games paid a total of $4,700 at the gate. As far as anyone knows, that's an alltime record for any sport. The local school also will get several hundred dollars from the two district games last week.

High school teams get to keep all the receipts at home games. They do not share in the receipts of "away" games.

Coach Phil Taylor thought, after the first home game, that his boys would be playing in an empty gym. The turnouts when the Greyhounds got rolling amazed him. "We want to thank all the people for their fine support this year, and hope they continue it next season," he said.

Our town was left a little aghast by the visit here for several days last week of a couple of genuine card-carrying hippies, or flower children, from San Francisco, one of the hippie capitals of the world.

If nothing else, it boosted sales at the downtown coffee house. Businessmen (and businesswomen) kept dropping in there at all hours of the day just "to see if the hippies are around."

We didn't get to make their acquaintance, which we regret, and can't see that they did any harm.

* * *

Speaking of hippies, junior high principal Robert Olson had to distinguish the flower children from the hell-raising Hell's Angels motorcycle riders of the beat generation for some of his students this week.

The junior high, celebrating Sponge Week, had Hippie Day Tuesday with the youngsters, and some teachers, dressing appropriately.

Olson drew the line, however, when a few of the boys turned up wearing Hell's Angels rigs and carring lengths of log chain. He confiscated the chains, which the notorious Hell's Angels use as weapons in their rumbles, and enshrined them on his desk, topped by a couple of artificial flowers.

Some of the hippie costumes were downright ingenious and real cute — even if we couldn't tell the girls and boys apart.

See you next week.

Main St. Will Be Repaved

The route of M-99 through Eaton Rapids is to be repaved by the State Highway Commission this summer, according to an announcement from Lansing this week.

The [illegible] Monday night's City Council meeting from an Eaton Rapids Journal reporter.

The Highway Commission said in a March 7 news release that it will open bids March 20 for 36 highway construction and improvement projects in 27 counties. Total cost was estimated at $24 million.

One of the projects listed was: "Eight miles of paving on M-99 between Crawford road and the north limits of Eaton Rapids, and resurfacing of a bridge carrying M-99 over Spring Brook. Estimated cost $150,000. Scheduled completion date, Nov. 30, 1968."

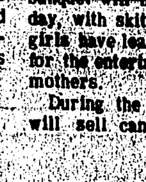
Crawford road is just beyong the "Y" formed by M-99 and M-50 at the south county line. The projects apparently is a continuation of major resurfacing work done on M-99 in Jackson county last year.

If the work goes ahead as announced it will mean new paving for all of Main and Michigan streets and that part of Canal street connecting the two.

Another Highway Commission project to be let at the same time calls for removal of about 292 trees along M-50, M-99 and U.S.-27 in Eaton county this summer "as part of the commission's roadside safety program." Estimated cost is $20,000, and completion date Oct. 31, 1968.

Troops to Observe National Campfire Week

The local Campfire Girls Assn., with 140 Campfire and Bluebird members enrolled, will observe National Campfire Week from March 17 through March 23.



They will start off the week by going to church in uniform Sunday, March 17. In midweek, a mother-and-daughter banquet will be held Wednesday, with skits and songs the girls have learned being done for the entertainment of their mothers.

During the week the girls will sell candy, and at the banquet sales awards will be given.

Throughout the year, besides holding weekly meetings, the girls participate in hayrides, skating parties and other group activities.

At Christmas time they sell nuts, and candy in the spring to help pay for these "extras". Part of the money also goes to pay half of the cost of summer camp for all girls who want to attend.

Officers of the local Association are Delores Nolan, president; Ralph Natusch, treasurer, and Sonja Seaks, secretary. Board members include Jeannette Hayes, Judy Davis, Judy Gemalsky, Anne Allan, Sandy Barrett, Phyllis Parisian, Pat Piggott, Orvelene White and Ellen Hovey.

If you have an old car, with wheels, sitting around on your property, better get rid of it.

Councilmen and police were prodded by Mayor Claud Basing at Monday night's Council meeting to see that the ordinance against these "junkers" is enforced.

"There's one heck of a lot of these old cars sitting around on lots without wheels," Basing said. He told Police Chief Lawrence Becktel to have his officers check them and suggested that the councilmen "make a list" of such cars they see while driving around town.

"We've already got rid of about 20 in the past month," Becktel replied. Police are serving written notices on property owners, he said, and keeping a card file on all violations.

Basing also noted that "a couple of little dumps have started up around town," mentioning specifically the city property on Plains street, and asked Becktel to see that improper dumping is stopped.

In other action, the Council voted unanimously to buy a new two-ton dump truck from Cooper Chevrolet-Oldsmobile on its bid of $5,100.92. Cooper's was the only bid submitted.

Mrs. Philo Squires, who lives at the corner of Frost and Lake streets, asked the Council to investigate standing water between her place and the railroad property. She said, and City Supt. Robert Zona confirmed, that grading around the new Spiritualist church on Frost closed an existing drainage ditch. Zona was told to investigate and see what could be done.

The Council agreed to the Planning Commission's request that the city clerk mail a standard questionnaire to all families living in the city. Drawn up by the commission's professional planners, the questionnaire asks for information on family size, income, whether they rent or own their own homes, etc. Those who fill it out will not be asked to sign their names or identify themselves in any way.

Councilman Russell McCormick, who acts as liaison agent with the Planning Commission, said the commission had seen plans for a new subdivision on the East Side and was disturbed that it would be accepted without having the planners pass on it.

Basing said the plans in question had been "kicking around" for five years and told McCormick to assure the Planning Commission that no subdivision would be accepted by the Council without giving the planners a look at it.

EX-COUNCILMAN BADGE AWARDED TO VIC ALT

Vic Alt, who retired a year ago after serving four years on the City Council was presented with a "Retired Councilman" badge by Mayor Claud Basing in a brief ceremony preceding Monday night's Council meeting.

In making the presentation, Basing said, "I know serving on the Council cost you some business and cost you some time. I know you gave four years out of your life."

"My only regret is that I didn't have more time to give," Alt replied.

"I know you have to take the abuse that occurs," Basing added.

"If you take the time to talk to people and explain things, that's all that most people ask," Alt said.

LOCAL MAN WOUNDED IN VIETNAM

Army Sp5 Gary McNamara, accidentally wounded in Vietnam on March 5, is recuperating at the Army hospital at Valley Forge, Pa. He was flown back to the States last Saturday and first taken to Fort-Dix, N. J., before being transferred to Valley Forge.

McNamara was at Gio Linh, near the Demilitarized Zone, when the accident occurred. His father, Marty McNamara, said Gary was jumping into a jeep with some other soldiers when a gun discharged, the bullet striking him in the back.

He had been in Vietnam about three months on special assignment.

Gary is well enough to have a three-day pass this weekend, his father said, and his wife, Carolyn, is flying to Valley Forge to be with him for that time.

By LUELLA KLINK

Someone broke into the home of Michael Mominee one evening last week and took his color tv and the children's savings banks. The banks were found across the road at a vacant house. They had been smashed and the money taken. The Mominees were away for the afternoon and evening. They had attended the funeral of Mrs. Mominee's father.

The Klinks' Norwegian elkhound, "Renny", died last week of an acute kidney infection which brought on uremic poisoning.

Jerold Topliff has tapped his sugar bush but, so far, hasn't had much of a run.

Mr. and Mrs. Luman Klink visited the Robert Klinks near Alto Sunday afternoon.

A number of 4-H'ers and parents attended the Young Miss and Junior Miss evaluation sessions in Leslie last Saturday.

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Carl Topliff are on their way home from Arizona and will arrive Friday or Saturday.

February is Longer Spring is Earlier

Due to the extra day in February, spring will arrive 18 hours earlier this year, at least according to the calendar.

Last year spring began at 2:37 a.m. on March 21; this year it will begin at 8:22 a.m. next Wednesday, March 20.

University of Michigan astronomer Hazel Losh explained that "normally spring begins six hours later each year because of the difference between our 365-day calendar and the time actually used by the earth to swing around the sun, 365.2422 days."

Spring is said to begin when the sun reaches the vernal equinox, the instant when the sun crosses the equator on its way north.

"The sun has been rising and setting south of the east, and west points for the last six months, and since Dec. 22 it has moved northward at the rate of about a degree a day.

"On the day of the equinox, it will rise and set almost exactly at the east and west points of the horizon and the day and night will be said to be of equal lengths.

"However, on the day of the equinox, day and night are not actually the same length. Atmospheric refraction, which seems to lift the sun into view before it actually comes over the horizon and then seems to delay its setting, brings us equal day and night about three days earlier than the equinox."

After adjusting for the refraction, we can expect equal day and night to occur on March 17 this year.

From then on, the days will become both longer and warmer. And the night sky will become duller.

Spring constellations are less spectacular than those of winter and contain fewer brilliant stars. But spring season is not without its sky attractions. Among the many groups rising and coming into view during March evenings are two of special interest, Bootes and Virgo.

The first to look for is Bootes, the giant "Bear Driver." It may be recognized by its kitelike outline formed by its principal stars and the presence of the bright orange star, Arcturus, in the tail of the kite.

Bootes represents the figure of a mighty man in running position. In one hand he holds a staff or spear, and in the other, uplifted, he holds the leash of his hunting dogs.

Arcturus is one of the bright gems in the heavens during spring and summer evenings. Few stars rival this star in beauty and interest. Arcturus is mentioned in the Book of Job and is often referred to as the star of Job.

Rising at about the same time as Bootes, but farther toward the south is Virgo, the Virgin. It is a long constellation with its stars roughly outlining a human figure.

Traffic fatalities were a big problem before the automobile. In 1891, one of every 280 males who died in England was killed by a cab or other horsedrawn vehicle. Ladies fared better — only one cab death per 2,850 deaths. At that time, there were 11,000 horsedrawn cabs in London, carrying 80,000 passengers a day.

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the editor

This is in reply to "Pleading for National Sanity."

You wrote in The Eaton Rapids Journal that "I am ashamed to call myself an American."

I do hope and pray that you thank God that you are an American for many reasons. One reason being that you would not have been able to write that article if you had not been.

I hope that you will give this quote by Stephen Decatur some thought:

"Our country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be 'in the right', but our country, right or wrong!"

Thank God that we at our house are Americans.

Harriet Ashbay

Editor
Eaton Rapids Journal
Eaton Rapids, Michigan

Dear Art:

When I read the opening sentence of the letter to the Editor in your issue of March 7th, which began with: "I am ashamed of my Country. I am ashamed to call myself an American," the first thought which ran through my mind was how similar this was to statements made by one of the U. S. Navy deserters on television when recently interviewed in Sweden where he and four other deserters had gone to immunity from punishment. In fact they are almost direct quotes. Odd, isn't it, regarding the Swedish influence.

As a small boy when I attended school, it was customary to commence the school day with a pledge of allegiance to our flag and Country, and I learned to be proud that I was an American.

Stephen Decatur, a famous American first, and a famous Naval Officer second, is quoted as having said, "Our Country. In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be right; but our Country, right or wrong."

What country needs enemies, with citizens like the one who says: "I am ashamed of my Country" and in effect, "I am ashamed of my flag."

A citizen so ashamed of America, that he does not want to call himself an American, yet feels he must tell the rest of us what foolish, deluded people we are, raises the question of why the anonymity? To paraphrase a famous statement, we do not have to agree or like what Mr. Anonymous says, but at least America will grant him the right to say what he believes if he has the courage to stand up and be counted.

It is very obvious the writer of the letter of March 7th never served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Air Force of the United States, because there we learned to love America, right or wrong, because it is our Country, as Decatur said.

Sincerely,
J. Patrick Sullivan

Letter to Editor
Dear Editor,

I am writing in reply to last week's plea for national sanity.

After reading this letter I concluded that the author had done a great deal of study about Vietnam. I have also done a good deal of study through talking with others and reading. Here is my reply to our unhappy writer.

Consider civilians killed in other wars. Any sensible person would realize that this is the price of war.

I have talked to several American soldiers who believe we are right in being in Vietnam. Could you answer to me why thousands of American soldiers volunteer to return for more duty in Vietnam?

You commented on what they had before being preferable. This country was in conflict long before we stepped in.

In concluding I would like you to ask yourself what you are doing to the morale of the American serviceman.

Sincerely,
Don J. Manger

Dear National Sanity:

Metro airport is open 24 hours a day. Why don't you take first airplane out. Hard to believe anyone could be ashamed of our country or being an American.

I'm very proud that I'm an American, same as I am proud that I'm an ex-Marine of World War II.

You talk about outrage, you've made hundreds of this small part of our wonderful country outraged. I pray the boys from this town in Vietname don't read your letter, as I'm afraid it would make them sick to think someone from their home town felt this way.

Tax Sales? Not Back in 1870s

By [illegible] Keesler

Ninety years have made a few changes in the method of conducting county business. Back in the 1870s farmers were allowed to use their horses and wagons to haul gravel and dirt for the roads, working out some of their taxes.

This information is contained in an official document dated May 23, 1879, made out by A. O. Stone, Commissioner of Highways of the Township of Hamlin in Eaton County.

Israel Lindly was overseer of highways in Road District No. 19 at the time. He took charge of the men named in the annexed assessment and caused them "faithfully to work the number of days specified and make return to Commissioner."

Of the 11 names on the assessment document, three are farms still owned by the descendants.

George Egan lives on a small acreage that was once part of the farm his uncle, A. O. Stone, owned, later taken over by his grandfather Newcomb.

Mrs. Bernice Snoke lives on the farm her great-grandfather McCallister owned, and I live on my grandfather Israel Lindly's farm. Both of the latter are now Centennial farms.

The document was among papers left by my grandfather and stored away in this ancient home.

State Acting Against Pesticides

According to the Michigan Conservation department, Michigan has come to a point in its history when it must outlaw the use of highly destructive pesticides or suffer the consequences.

State agencies have stopped using them.

Threats of fire, pestilence, and plague against our natural resources are as nothing, they say, compared to the attacks of chemicals such as DDT, Chlordane, Dieldrin and others. They have now polluted our environment to the extent that we no longer eat any food or drink any fluid without swallowing at least minute quantities of these chemicals.

Following is a portion of the Conservation report:

DDT is found in the waters of the Arctic and Antarctic Oceans, thousands of miles from any area where it has ever been used. It is found in fish life, inside eggs of hawks and ospreys ... eggs which do not hatch. We kill robins, our state symbol, and prevent the birth of bald eagles, our national symbol, with these pesticides.

Two years ago, a U.S. Public Health service study showed that the average American has gathered 12 parts per million of DDT into his human fatty tissue. Nursing mothers now impart .08 parts per million of DDT in human milk given their infants.

Frankly, no one knows what 12 parts per million in human fatty tissue means. But we know it's going to stay there and that DDT in far smaller concentrations has awesome consequences for many small or simple forms of animal life.

We have already allowed ourselves to be carried much too far down this hazardous road. We have, until recently, condoned use of such chemicals even in the Department of Conservation, using them to reduce forest insects, park pests, and fish and game problems. We are all sheep in the same herd, and the real fight is not against some distant state or federal bureau, or lone farmer, or crop-dusting pilot.

The real fight is against ourselves. Are you, as a householder, willing to pay more per pound for apples? Will you accept higher prices when crops are in short supply?

We now enjoy big, luscious wormless fruits and vegetables and we fail to question the individual farmer or rose-grower when crops and flowers are dusted, several times each year.

The weight of evidence against these hard, or persistent chemicals is so overwhelming that there is no longer any doubt of the need to end their use.

One study shows that up to half of all DDT spread by crop-dusting airplanes escapes into the atmosphere. Such chemicals are carried from croplands by the run-off of rainwater, melting snow or the breeze.

As a result, DDT and other similar chemicals are now found in every major river system of the United States, in all the Great Lakes and all our inland lakes, in soil organisms, and in virtually all human and animal life on which studies have been carried out.

Saddest of all, DDT, the most persistent of the bunch, loses only half its potency over a period of 10 to 15 years. If al' further use was halted right now, we would still have to live with the effects for more than a generation.

The problem is so intimately woven into the fabric of our environment that eagles' eggs, the contents of a glass of water and the price of apples are all affected simultaneously.

Actually, agriculturists now have "soft" chemicals which can be used to control pests, but which lose their strength after a relatively short period of time.

However, some are extremely dangerous to handle and require more frequent application to accomplish the same ends. Also, many are more expensive.

A seemingly simple solution would be to pass a state law preventing all further sale or use of specific chemicals such as DDT in Michigan. Perhaps a federal law could be passed, preventing interstate commerce in these chemicals.

In the meantime, there is much that can be done to reduce the use of hard pesticides. Recently, the Governor asked directors of the Departments of Agriculture and Conservation to prepare a statewide policy for adoption by these and other agencies within the state. Meetings are now being held to draft such a policy.

The Department of Conservation, meantime, has halted all use of hard chemicals for all of its programs.

Individual communities can contribute to the effort by refraining from use of these chemicals in control, for example, of Dutch elm disease. Sportsmen's groups, civic organizations, women's clubs, and individuals must speak out against hard chemicals. Householders can support farm groups which voluntarily refrain from using them. And we can all stop the use of such chemicals on home flower and vegetable gardens.

Charlotte Turns Tables On Hounds in District

The Charlotte Orioles, whom they had beaten twice in the regular season, ended Eaton Rapids' basketball year with a 71-68 defeat in the second round of district play at Lakewood last Wednesday. The Orioles, in turn, were beaten by Ionia, 76-66 in overtime, in the district finals Saturday.

Despite the loss, Coach Phil Taylor called it a "good year" in which the Greyhounds won 12 and lost 5 during the regular season, tying for second place in the Capital Circuit. "They're a good bunch of kids," Taylor said. "They knew they had to work hard to get anywhere, and they did work hard."

Taylor also announced that John Seeley, the Greyhound pivot and leading scorer, had been picked unanimously by the Capital Circuit coaches for the all-league team. Seeley was the only player whose selection was unanimous.

The basketball banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. March 28 in the high school cafeteria, with members of the Varsity, Jayvee and Freshman teams, as well as the cheerleaders, as honored guests. Invitations have been sent to the players' parents, members of the Greyhound Booster club, school board members and school administrators.

The coaches will award letters and announce the team captain and most valuable player for the year. Dick Sizemore will have his name engraved on a plaque for the season's best free throw percentage — 73 per cent.

In the district semi-final against Charlotte, the Greyhounds led by six points going into the final quarter. The Orioles drew even at the five-minute mark, 60-60, then pulled ahead for the win. Eaton Rapids was haunted by three technical fouls and the loss on fouls of Dick Sizemore.

John Whitely, whom the Greyhounds knew they had to stop, pitched in 25 points for the Orioles, while Al Haskill hit 21 for Eaton Rapids.

Wrestlers End Most Successful Season

Eaton Rapids wrestlers closed their season last week end by scoring two points in the State Class B championships at Wyoming, near Grand Rapids. Charlotte won the state team title with 29 points.

Co-Capt. Mark Nash, in the 165-pound class, won the two points for the Greyhounds when he went to the semifinals before being defeated on a 1-0 decision. He won two matches on his way to the semifinals, eliminating the top-seeded man in his class in the second.

Regional champ Steve Peters, 138 pounds, and Co-Capt. Dave Kirkpatrick, 165, were eliminated in the first round at Whoming. "Two points is twice as many as we scored last year, and Steve Peters, who is only a sophomore, got some valuable experience for next year," Coach Ed Chapel commented.

The wrestlers will hold their annual banquet next Tuesday night, March 19, at Union Street school. Grady Peninger, wrestling coach at MSU, will be the speaker, with attendance by invitation.

On display will be the trophy just received by the Greyhounds for winning the Capital Circuit championship, the first undisputed title in the school's wrestling history. Letter winners will be announced at the banquet.

Church Sets 'Festival Of Music'

Two out-of-town musical groups will present concerts here Sunday as the Pilgrim church, 1401 S. Main St., holds its "Festival Day of Music."

The Sons of Harmony, a quartet of young men from Columbus, O., will appear at the morning service from 10 a.m. to 12. The Pilgrim Choir from Owosso college will sing at the 7:30 p.m. service, presenting a concert of sacred music, choral classics, spirituals and gospel songs.

The 33-voice choir of young college men and women, under the baton of conductor-director John Bowman, is booked for concerts throughout Michigan and Indiana this spring.

The Sons of Harmony quartet originated in Flint, moving to Columbus last year. Members, whose ages range from 21 to 25, are Ron Roseink, Dave Thomas, Robert Hammond and Don Brown.

They have been singing together for eight years and have five long-play record albums to their credit, the latest "Michigan's Favorite Sons Sing Favorites."

The public is invited to attend either or both services.

New $40 Million Capitol Predicted in 5 Years

Elmer E. White

CAPITOL IDEAS

A $40 million new state Capitol building may become a reality in four or five years if legislators set the wheels in motion during this session. It is expected they will. A recent poll among the state's lawmakers showed an overwhelming majority favored construction of a new facility rather than remodeling the present capitol or getting along with present facilities.

Legislators cite overcrowded conditions, shortage of facilities, inadequate utilities and serious fire hazards as some justification for a new building. Previous surveys indicate that major renovations would be required on the 90-year old structure to correct shortcomings.

Additional space needs would necessitate stripping the building to the walls and rebuilding from the inside, in addition to adding wings. This would mean that the Legislature would have to move out for a period of years and rent facilities elsewhere.

65 FAVOR RAZING

Proposed facilities and disposition of the old Capitol were also discussed by many of the lawmakers. Sixty-five legislators said they favored razing the old building, 27 want it saved and 56 declined comment. The Joint Capital Outlay Committee of the House and Senate seem to have the most politically expedient answer: let some future Legislature decide the question.

Committee chairman, Sen. Garland Lane (D-Flint) noted, "It is possible that many of us won't be here by then" (when the new building is completed).

Those who want the structure saved note that it could house other state agencies, such as the Supreme Court and State Court of Appeals; or be used for a museum of Michigan history.

Since the new building will be designed to serve lawmakers for the next 50-75 years, opinions vary on what facilities should be located within the new Capitol. Some favor a large legislative dining room; others favor four or five small dining areas. Shower and dressing rooms received favorable response. Most favored a tour lounge and a chamber-in-the-round with closed circuit electronic hookup. Other suggestions include a swimming pool, sauna baths, a helicopter port on the roof, 300-seat auditorium, a small theatre to show films on Michigan history, enclosed visitors' balcony, air conditioning.

Many of these suggestions will probably never be incorporated in the new building. One thing seems certain: Michigan will have a new Capitol in the near future.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS SOON

On April 28, at 2 a.m. Michigan will advance one hour to Daylight Savings Time. It should be easier for people to adjust to the new time this year since it falls on Sunday. Last year Michigan was delayed in adopting Daylight Savings Time because of legislative action. Petitions cleared the way for the new time to take effect on June 12, a Monday and many felt the loss of an hour's sleep Tuesday morning.

The new time is assured for this year and will be in effect until the last Sunday in October, the 27th, when Michigan returns to Eastern Standard Time.

The issue will be decided at the polls this November. Voters will be asked whether they wish to continue Daylight Savings Time during the summer months or remain on EST all year.

TAX REVENUE UP

Revenue from state and local taxes increased 96% over the decade 1957-67, the Michigan Department of Revenue reports. Over the same period, personal income reflected only a 67% increase in additional dollars.

Tax dollars collected from local property taxes increased 82%, but local income taxes levied by six Michigan cities pushed the figure to 92% over 1957 tax revenues.

State taxes show an even greater increase: 99% more revenue is flowing into Lansing from state-levied taxes than 10 years ago. Federal taxes from Michigan residents are bringing in about 65% more revenue than in 1957.

Each tax dollar is now divided into 79.29¢ for the Federal government, 11.52¢ for the state and 9.19¢ for local governments.

No matter how one views the figures, the conclusion is the same: taxes are taking a larger percentage from personal income every year. To the taxpayer it may make little difference which units of government get the spoils. He is left with fewer dollars to spend.

Yet, unless demands for government services decrease; it is doubtful that the trend to higher taxes will reverse itself.

Junior High Low-down

BY Shasta Thompson and Mark Stoughton

Mike Conway who formerly attended school in Petoskey has enrolled in school this week. He is in the eighth grade.

Mr. Richard Olson, principal of Junior High, attended the Central Michigan Principals' Conference at Dwight Rich Jr. High school, Lansing, on Wednesday, March 13.

A lifesaving course for boys and girls starts Friday, March 15, at Waverly Junior High. It's hoped that a good number will sign up for this program.

Mr. Higgins says his dog "Rebel" has the sniffles. We reporters hope that Mr. Higgins doesn't catch them.

Mr. Huntington, Mr. Humerickhouse, Mr. Baughn, Mr. Rae and Mr. Higgins showed great basketball skill in their game against the eighth grade boys. Unfortunately, we have had a loss of memory and cannot give you the final score.

Our school enrollment has increased since the beginning of this semester with the addition of six 7th grade students and five 8th grade students.

All kinds of hats and ties appeared on Monday. The following received our vote:

Prettiest hat: Bron Burhans, Roxanne Swan, Suzie Rule.

Prettiest tie: Dawn Glasgow, Joanna Meinke, Valerie Ide.

Craziest hat: Bron Burhans, Suzie Rule, George Morgan.

Craziest tie: Paul Finch, Dan Cole, Cathie Lockwood.

Look for us at the dance Friday evening, March 15, when Gene Healy from WILS spins the records.

Also, look for us next week when we'll try to have more news.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Chick-A-Saw Troop

The girls opened their meeting Wednesday, March 6. We had our ceremonial and got our beads that we earned. We had elections. Vicky passed out treats, then Mrs. Clink showed us the records of our beads. It was time to go. Karen Kowaleski, scribe

Ta-Wa-Ten-Ya Troop

We elected officers as follows: Judy Lupeni, president; Judy Mosher, vice president; Patty Brown, secretary; Maja Thompson, treasurer; Annette Cupp, scribe. The money in the bank was counted and it equals $13. We discussed the faults at the last meeting.

Progress Report

From the Citizens Educational Study Committee (CESC).

By ERNIE NASH
Chairman

The subcommittee on Curriculum is discussing the desirability of placing more emphasis on vocational training for those students not planning on college.

It is felt at present the importance of college is overstressed, with the result that students not planning on going are made to feel they are not a part of the learning process at high school.

There is a possibility that this training should be in a school specializing in vocational training.

This would allow the present high school to work more closely with students wanting to go to college. Also, the student with exceptional talent could be allowed to progress according to his ability.

What are your thoughts on this or other aspects of the school system? We are all able to benefit from an exchange of ideas, so if you have not joined the CESC, do so today.

In order to be able to express yourself at the polls you must be registered. Do so by March 22.
