Saturday Journal

W. W. BAKER, Editor and Proprietor. BOSTON, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1906.

THE BACKBITER.

There was one thing in this town that was talked about for weeks. It was the case of the backbiter. The backbiter was a man who was known to all the people in the town. He was a man who was known to all the people in the town. He was a man who was known to all the people in the town.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE.

It seems good, after all, now that it is over, to have the lights turned again, though it is a deal of work and a considerable amount of time. But folks will have their whims; and so I don't complain, and I know you don't either.

THE MEN'S VOICES.

The men's voices were loud and angry. Mrs. Derwent, who in an adjoining room awaited with fluttering anxiety the result of the interview which she believed would consummate the "brilliant match" long contemplated by her, and for which she had used all her motherly influence to inspire Dolly with a sense of its advantage.

USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE.

CLIMAX UPON THE PROMISE about the buildings. It is no honor or credit to have the yards littered up with old shingles, tiles, brambles, burdock and briars growing all among them.

THE SCOT'S BUSINESS.

This business has, of late years, grown to vast dimensions. It is but a short time since every farm-house wife looked for her own little store of seeds for the garden in the spring, and on her, principally, devolved the care and thought of the seed.

THE ART OF FEEDING HORSES.

Proper attention to the food and feed of horses is one of the most important factors in the success of the horse raiser. It is not enough to have a horse that is well bred and well trained; he must also be well fed.
