anything by the short intermediate given them, the writer looked to the cause, for which he felt duty bound to speak.
The firm of Nichols & Sheppard, thrashing machine manufacturers, have had a unusually busy season. On the 10th day of June they shipped 34 machines, 10 more than they had sent out in one day—and the work was all done in nine hours and thirty minutes. This makes 800 machines shipped throughout the season of 1875. Their gain for the year is to be kept up to get out extra machines needed to meet the demand. This firm will also build a large new brick warehouse, in addition to those now in the city of Eaton Rapids.
