Never Fly a Kite Near Electric Wires

Even a boy flying a kite can make a contribution to the war effort, according to Stuart Graham, local manager of Consumers Power.

"If he will fly his kite only where there is no danger of kite string touching electric wires, it is a safe and enjoyable activity," he said.

He will likewise, Mr. Graham added, eliminate the danger of kite string cutting a power line, causing a severe and possibly fatal electric shock.

"Many kites have metal parts which make them dangerous if they touch a power line," he said.

Plans for coming year, Scout executive Clarence Neitz; address by Robert Hutchins; C. M. Marines; memorial service by Chas. Smallwood; taps by Junior Council.

Food Production Meeting March 17

Animal Husbandry and Soils will be the topics for discussion at the final Food Production series of meetings scheduled in Eaton Rapids on Wednesday, March 17.

A meeting will be held 8 p. m. at the Eaton Rapids High School.

Soils specialists will present practical suggestions on soil management including analysis of soil, and recommendations for various crops.

Animal husbandry specialists will discuss the care of hogs, beef cattle and sheep.

Many farmers are hesitant about the types of financing available for lambing time, feeding and care of brood sows, and use of market as well as pasture for these purposes.

There will be ample time also for questions and to discuss financial problems.

BPW Club

BPW Squadron Flight to Florida was the subject of a most interesting talk by Miss Dorothy Fox on Monday evening at the meeting of the Women's Club at the residence of Lillian Ziemer. Twenty members and guests were present.

A planned dinner was given at 7:30 o'clock. Misses Edna Brown and Ermelene Smith presided with several songs and a program of entertainment.

The next meeting will be called for the 21st day of the month.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Many of the women of the Women's Auxiliary group are already overseas serving in various capacities to help with the war. We all appreciate the aid and help they are giving us.

We are all proud of the fact that we are doing our part for the war effort.

Let's all buy our War Bonds and Stamps.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...
A lot of storekeepers in town are worrying about being able to get help these days. Judge Men are mighty scarce and getting fewer so all this time. I know, only they have a bunch of law-fouting criminals doing it behind closed doors. And the government wasn't collecting a billion dollars since the war started. YOU can count on little daughter's going into ecstasies when she sees the pretty-pretty dresses fashion has in store for her spring. don't just happen. Michigan highways are the best in the nation today because they were planned by able men who knew how to build them — how to maintain them.

ARE YOU, Mr. TAXPAYER, getting your money's worth from the dollars returned by the State of Michigan to the county for enforcement of liquor laws? Here are some interesting facts: Municipalities and townships in Eaton county received the sum of $6000.00 last year from the State of Michigan for the purpose of enforcing liquor laws within the county. For the 83 counties the allocations totaled $2,429,853.55.

COLLEGE STUDENTS TAKE NAVY TESTS APRIL 2
Qualifying tests for applicants enrolling in the new Navy college training program, V-12, will be conducted throughout the nation April 2. Students at 17 of our colleges will take the tests in Navy uniforms by July 1 and will remain in uniform at least a year and a third.

ONE WEAKNESS IN THE above system whereby local towns and township derive their revenue from the sale of liquor is the fact — whether you like it or not — that in some instances this revenue has become almost a "vested right" in the minds of local officials for use in any way they see fit.

LETTERS FROM A WAVE
WAVE Estelle Burroughs, now at the Naval Training School at Indiana University writes: "We all thought when we left our home towns that we had made a great step in our lives. We certainly didn't expect to find normal social life at the new WAVES training school, but after a full day of classes we found dance, community sings, and special entertainment planned for service men and women. Besides all of that, we receive a real taste of college life here at Indiana. Remember all that is needed in the way of education to get the WAVES and 32 hours of two years of high school. The nearest Navy recruiting station has all the information."

MARRIAGE REGULATIONS CHANGED
Women Reservists in the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard are now permitted to marry men in their own branches of the service. All weddings, however, must await completion of Women Reservists' indoctrination and training course.

IN MANY COUNTIES THIS 35 cent fund (figure it out yourself) would make possible the same as mentioned above. It is a matter of special deposit with an assistant treasurer in each county to keep the fund separate from the county treasury.

I know, only they have a bunch of law-fouting criminals doing it behind closed doors. And the government wasn't collecting a billion dollars since the war started.

COOKS 143 MEALS

In a picture it looks almost like a Christmas card, but it's a lot different after you've been out in this kind of weather for two or three days. Most of the Canadian ski-troopers trained in special courses are sent back to their original units as instructors. The course lasts about two weeks, starting off in a class room and ending up on the snow. Many troopers are already expert skiers before they join up.

WINTER training is an integral part of Canadian Army training, both to the Active Army in Canada and the Reserve. Training will be carried out on skis and snowshoes wherever conditions permit. Troops will be taught to live off the land to be tough and self-reliant. This instruction is not intended as a specialized form of training, but rather the carrying out of normal military training under winter conditions. Stress will be placed on the use of small arms and automatic weapons which are not too cumbersome to be handled by men on skis. Sufficient equipment will be available to all training units to permit the training of at least one platoon at a time in an outdoor exercise involving bivouacking for several days. Soldiers must concentrate on military tasks, camouflage, self-sufficiency while away from their base, and skill in armed and unarmed combat. The basis for the winter training of the Reserve Army.

LOW 4-4 girls help their families and the Food for Freedom campaign is told in the record of participation in a national contest conducted by the Extension Service of Michigan State College. Typical of the better achievements is that of Cora Goley, 19, of Marshall in getting 143 economy meals for which she prepared 60 different dishes, made numerous salads and canned 180 pounds of vegetables, fruits and meats. At 4-4 she is the smallest girl who received a tip to the recent wartime National 4-4 Club Congress in Chicago from several hundred medals, Congress tips and $300 college scholarship in that order in county, state and national winners for the 1943 season.

How the way Canadian ski-troopers set up equipment for the night. Skis and poles form platform for packs, rifles and other equipment, keeping them well above ground.

Training and training centers are being issued such special equipment as skis, toboggans, petrol stoves and snow shoes. Sufficient equipment will be available to all training units to permit the training of at least one platoon at a time in an outdoor exercise involving bivouacking for several days. Soldiers must concentrate on military tasks, camouflage, self-sufficiency while away from their base, and skill in armed and unarmed combat. The basis for the winter training of the Reserve Army.

First-Lieutenant Landis D. Morris of Olney, S. C., his skull fractured by a sniper bullet at Sa. receives a plasma transfusion at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C. One of the first wounded men returned from North Africa, Morris is eager to get back into the Army. He thinks there are no more wounded men in the Red Cross who have saved his life.

Red Cross Field Directors Solve Soldiers' Problems

Thousands of U. S. fighting men last year accepted the invitation to discuss their personal problems with Red Cross field directors who, according to a report from London, solve the problems of the two soldiers at the desk. Contributions to the Red Cross 1945 War Fund, now in progress, make this service possible.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The soldier stormed into the Red Cross office at a southern Army camp with the home folks. These and other problems are untold in a never-ending panorama before Red Cross field directors. Almost always they are solved.

The Red Cross field director is ready to furnish information, counsel, and assistance as needed to the writers of either or both. In addition to the servicemen aided by field directors, more than 500,000 families of men in the Red Cross chapters and branches.

Contributions of the American people to the Red Cross during the 1945 campaign are estimated at $125,000,000. War Fund in progress will help to keep and expand these services to the nation's fighting men.

Varied and often unusual are the other demands made of Red Cross field directors. Field Director William Fishary, stationed in a remote Australian area, traveled down to a railroad junction to bring back 6,000 pounds of American light zinc for troops to which he was assigned. Returning on a train, he was asked to help deliver a baby for a native woman, hospitalized en route to a hospital.

Red Cross Field Director Albert S. Campbell and two assistants, David S. Oman and John J. Clancy Jr., distributed clothes, cigarettes, soap, razors, tooth brushes, playing cards and other articles to Army camp fire fighters during one of the most furious Solomon island battles.

Whatever the welfare and personal problems of American fighting men at home or abroad, the field director, backed up by 3,755 Red Cross chapters and 6,000 branches, is the serviceman's best friend in time of need.

Further conversation developed that the young bride was an expectant mother. She was unable to go home because of her spotfester. Her husband had no relatives with whom she could stay. And the soldier had made to his wife had not yet come through.

Two hours later—after much conversation and planning—the soldier was shaking the hand of the Red Cross field director.

The Red-Cross man had arranged that the soldier's wife spend the night at the home camp guest house. Preparations had been completed with a nearby Red Cross chapter for her transportation back home. The Red Cross chapter in the girl's home town had agreed to see that she had proper care until the baby was born. By that time the allotment would be coming through in every United States military establishment, at home and abroad, the American Red Cross maintains a field director and staff to help Uncle Sam's fighting men work out their personal problems. More than 1,000,000 servicemen passed through the offices of the Red Cross field directors last year. Their families covered all phases of life—family service.

Red Cross Field Director Albert S. Campbell and two assistants, David S. Oman and John J. Clancy Jr., distributed clothes, cigarettes, soap, razors, tooth brushes, playing cards and other articles to Army camp fire fighters during one of the most furious Solomon island battles.

Whatever the welfare and personal problems of American fighting men at home or abroad, the field director, backed up by 3,755 Red Cross chapters and 6,000 branches, is the serviceman's best friend in time of need.

Further conversation developed that the young bride was an expectant mother. She was unable to go home because of her spotfester. Her husband had no relatives with whom she could stay. And the soldier had made to his wife had not yet come through.

Two hours later—after much conversation and planning—the soldier was shaking the hand of the Red Cross field director.

The Red-Cross man had arranged that the soldier's wife spend the night at the home camp guest house. Preparations had been completed with a nearby Red Cross chapter for her transportation back home. The Red Cross chapter in the girl's home town had agreed to see that she had proper care until the baby was born. By that time the allotment would be coming through in every United States military establishment, at home and abroad, the American Red Cross maintains a field director and staff to help Uncle Sam's fighting men work out their personal problems. More than 1,000,000 servicemen passed through the offices of the Red Cross field directors last year. Their families covered all phases of life—family service.

Hats Are Ensembled With Purse, Gloves Flowered, Tailored Hats Are Favored.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS To crowd into a few paragraphs the exciting story of hat fashions in advance military showings this season is impossible. It is very evident that the fact of simplicity as now featured in suits, coats and dresses for spring has placed military designers on their mettle to do something about it. With an outburst of genius and enthusiasm, they are creating out of new materials, no matter what, fashions in headgear and related accessories that impart an accent of feminine charm to every costume.

The newest news of all is the zeal with which designers of headgear have taken it upon themselves to create in terms of ensembles. It is not the exception, but rather a general trend, for the new spring millinery collections to feature intricate "sets" that include hat, bag, outer neckpiece and even gloves related to a nicety in material, color scheme and design technique.

By the same token of inventive genius, milliners will show you hats that are adorned with ornaments and headdresses that ensemble perfectly with necklace, bracelet and earrings, or with the gadget on military's lapel. You'll get a genuine thrill at the sight of a hat bag and glove set of shiny patent leather stitched row after row in white. The flaring outer cuffs are detachable, so they can be clipped off and set off kid gloves at will. There are also hats developed of cutled media to create a contrast with your navy or gray spring costume. Accessory-conscious milliners have the new frothy white neckwear veer in mind, also, and are showing sheer laces and maline scarves to swish the throat.

Timed for immediate wear these are stunning casual pastel delfs, with manipulated brims in keeping with the trend to softly styled sportswear. Foully pompous and "muffin" berets are also liked. You'll find little Gibson-girl sailing galore in the new showings. Crisp white ruffles on staple sailor will be coming out when the spring season gets into full swing.

The types of hats mostly in demand for the present moment are tailored felts and delectable little wicker connections, the latter stressing pompous type. It is said that baibauts will be favorites among stars.

All signs point to a lavish use of white accents on dark dresses. These white touches are anything you want them to be from jabots, dickeres, vests, collar and cuff sets to frothy white frills that will flutter and billow around throats and wrists too prettily feminine for words. Your navy or black riding suit with its sleek skirt, fitted jacket and long sleeves, is expected to take on loads of white organdy frills, the more the better, with the white is sufficient. It's time to stick up on flattering, frothy-white, frilly neckwear and various lingerie touches to give style accent to your spring costumes.

Style Notes

Fashion highlights: gray suits for spring. Latest hairdo features pompadour, rim forehead curls.

Ruffled edges give cloth suits a very new and smart look. Hapsies both functional and used in a trimmish way, have come into their own.

Taffie plaided or checked is going to be hot for suits and dresses. They'll fly out charismas and they'll be leading you, over the top.
