

Swimming Trips, Baseball Popular With Youngsters

The summer recreation program reached the halfway point last week and director Floyd Schwab reported that boys' baseball practices have been divided into three groups because of the large number of participants. Average attendance at the daily practices has been 162. The swimming trips to Pine Lake also have been popular with the youngsters, an average of 152 making the Tuesday and Friday afternoon trips.

Two more no-hit pitching performances marked the boys' baseball games last week. In the PeeWee league, Doug Keck pitched a no-hitter for the Kiwanis team against league-leading Robinson's last night, 2-0. In the Junior League, Shimm-Taylor defeated the VFW, 4-2, on a no-hitter by Brian Johnson.

Other results last week were: PeeWee league — Robinson's 9, VFW 5; Heminger's 9, VFW 8. Little league — VFW 12, Lions 6; Hall-Vaughn 7, VFW 3; Lions 4, Jayces 1. Junior league — Davidson 10, VFW 4; Shimm-Taylor 10, Eaton Stamping 6.

Summer Playground

The average attendance for the third week of playground was 84 children per day. The Water Tower was originally planned for Friday of last week, was postponed on account of rain until Monday. The staff wishes to thank the Warehouse Food Locker for storing the watermelon. Special Friday this week will be Crafts Day with the older group working in paper mache and the younger group making napkin holders.

Board Adopts Staggered School Hours

High school students will start their school day a half hour earlier and elementary pupils a half hour later this fall, under a plan approved by the Board of Education at its special meeting Monday night.

Supt. M. J. Belser proposed the plan to avoid buying additional school buses. The present 12 buses will make two round trips over their routes each morning and afternoon, picking up high school students first, then elementary pupils and let her in.

The school day for all junior and senior high school students from grades 7 through 12 will be 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Elementary pupils will attend from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Kindergarten pupils will attend morning or afternoon sessions as usual.

Lunch hour for all students, both high school and elementary, will be from 12 to 1. Belser said that if all the students were brought in at once it would require as many as eight more buses.

The Board also decided to keep the Charlevoix school open if there are 25 or more pupils who go there this fall. Otherwise, pupils in the recently-annexed district probably will be bused into town.

The school building in the old Hinckley district will be included in the list of those to be offered for sale at an auction scheduled for Aug. 15 at the Technical Building. The building, previously closed, has been rented for the past year to the State Highway department for use as a field office. The lease terminates at the end of August.

The Board also was given official notice that the Bay Window is to be closed. The building, approved for transfer of nine parcels of land into the Eaton Rapids district, by a vote of 26 to 8.

Most of the meeting was devoted to general discussion of the proposed new school building with Mrs. James Fuller and high school principal Richard Fransted reporting on a visit they made in Seginaw. The building, they said, is set up for extensive use of closed-circuit television, with teachers lecturing and giving science demonstrations. The building also contains 200 students at one time.

Journal Offers Free Service To Students

As a service to high school students who go to purchase their own books, the Eaton Rapids Journal is offering free publication of classified ads on the buying and selling of books and band instruments.

Students with books or instruments for sale, or wishing to buy same, should leave their list, name and phone number at the Journal office on East Hamlin street, or telephone the Journal.

The ads will be run more than once, if necessary. However, the students are requested to notify the Eaton Rapids Journal when they have sold their items. The first such ad appears today under STUDENT CLASSIFIEDS and will continue until school starts.

Golf Tournament For Boys Planned

Plans are underway for a boys' junior golf tournament for boys 17 years old and under. All boys interested in entering the tournament are requested to meet at the Bonnie View clubhouse at 2 o'clock Friday, July 31, to receive instructions and pairings.

Tentative plans call for two flights one for those 15 through 17 and one for the boys 14 and under. Awards will be given to the winner and runner-up in each flight. The event will be sponsored by the Eaton Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce and will be under the direction of Gene Emmer, high school teacher.

Notes and Anecdotes

One of the best dog stories we heard happened last Thursday morning, about 8 a.m., when the thunderstorm and rain hit here.

The dog, a German shepherd, named Trixie, was out in the storm and went to the home of a Mrs. Reese, next door to the school building. Mrs. Reese, getting up to close the windows, discovered her dog in the storm.

Frightened by the thunder and lightning, Trixie promptly jumped into the arms of Mrs. Reese, bed, crowding Don out. And she refused to move.

Don went to the refrigerator, nearly but his left arm when he waved it under Trixie's nose. She wouldn't budge. Then he picked up one side of the mattress and tried to dump her out. No go.

So the Reeses gave up. Norabelle spent the rest of the night sleeping on the floor and Don in a chair. Trixie finally left with the dawn.

The City Commission is seriously considering dusting off its old curfew ordinance and telling police to use it judiciously to clear loitering youngsters from the streets at night—the situation is that bad.

The ordinance provides that children 16 years and under must be off the streets by 10 p.m., seven nights a week. It also stipulates that the fire siren be blown each night at 9:50 to give the youngsters a ten-minute warning.

Present thinking is to revise the ordinance slightly, keeping the fire siren warning, but changing the hour to 10:30 except on Friday and Saturday, when it would be 11:30.

Local police asked the Commission to do something about a curfew. They've been plagued all summer by bands of youngsters aimlessly roaming the streets late at night. They probably wouldn't make a lot of arrests under the curfew ordinance but could make a few kids, and parents, too, account for the kids' whereabouts late at night.

Businessmen There Buy 'Bricks' one or two are planning to go. The company was offered an acre of land here at $750 an acre, with the City offering to install water and sewer facilities to the plant without charge. The City of Charlotte made the same offer on utilities.

Company officials said that, nonetheless, there was very little choice between the two offers. The difference represented by the donated land in Charlotte will barely cover the cost of moving machines and equipment to the plant.

Band Concerts Set Through August

Concerts by the Eaton Rapids High school band are scheduled weekly from now through August. All concerts will be held at 8 p.m. Thursdays on the island, with the exception of one which will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

Members of the band returned Friday afternoon from a four-day outing at the Wesleyan Methodist conference camp near Cadillac. Forty-nine were able to make the trip and, outside of some formation practice, were free to spend the time in recreation.

No musical instructionals were taken. Mrs. Robert Koyl, the following adults supervised the outing: Mrs. John Corbin, Mrs. Elida Cassidy, Mrs. Albert Kemper, Mrs. Maxine Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Florian and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sprague.

The Commission may act Monday night and meanwhile, is interested in hearing what you think of a curfew.

See you in town this Friday and Saturday for the folkloric fun of fun that will be Side-walk Days in Eaton Rapids.

The arm was mangled and the bones shattered. He was taken to St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing where, after surgery, it was believed he would regain use of the arm.

Transfer of all Heifez manufacturing operations to Eaton Rapids was conducted along with the Heifez family was in the process of moving to Eaton Rapids, Mo., makes the pickle industry an increasingly important factor in the community. In addition to a substantial plant payroll, the company annually contracts for and purchases many hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of farm products from growers in this area.

Thanks in part to last week's timely rains, it now appears that Eaton Rapids area contract growers will harvest about 200,000 bushels of pickles in Michigan for 25 years. It came to Eaton Rapids about five years ago, with purchase of the long-established salting station on W. Plain street.

17-Year-Old Worker Dies of Electrocution In Plant Accident

A 17-year-old youth was accidentally electrocuted at the Heifez Pickling Co. plant on Monday morning. The youth was working on a switch box when he was struck by a live wire. He was pronounced dead at the hospital.

The victim was John Albert Morris, 44 Raymerville road, son of Iven and Mary Ellen Morris. He was working on a switch box when he was struck by a live wire. He was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Mrs. Morris was helping two other employees move a hose to one of the big pickling vats at the back of the building when she checked accidentally contacted a 220-volt switchbox. The current struck his body to the chest and another worker knocked him away.

Taken by Skinner's ambulance to Community hospital, he was given oxygen enroute and at the hospital, as well as a shot of adrenalin to restore heart action. Resuscitation attempts failed, however, and he was declared dead at the hospital, corner Ber' Field of Dimondale signing a death certificate attributing death to accidental electrocution.

An immediate investigation into the death got under way Wednesday. Dr. Charles Black, a pathologist from Lansing, was performing an autopsy on the youth's body at the Skinner home last Wednesday afternoon.

Private electrical contractors checked the Heifez stock plant during the morning and could find no short in the switch box. The chief of the state Electrical Administrative board checked the plant thoroughly Wednesday, knocking the unconscious youth clear.

Marsh immediately went to the office and called Max Skinner, who was in the vicinity of the plant, and asked him to get a doctor and prepare for an emergency patient. His assistant, Verlon Graham, put Morris on the stretcher, meanwhile, and they started for the hospital.

Skinner said that, on reaching the scene, he went to the telephone and called the hospital, notifying them to get a doctor and prepare for an emergency patient. His assistant, Verlon Graham, put Morris on the stretcher, meanwhile, and they started for the hospital.

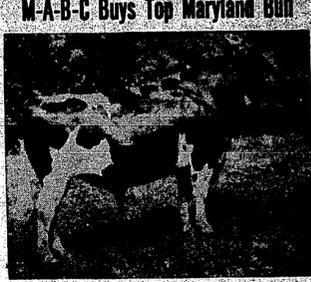

The body was removed to the Skinner funeral home. Funeral arrangements were not complete Wednesday. School records show that Norris transferred here from LeRoc in March of 1957, attended here through the 1957-58 school year and returned last Fall as a junior in high school but dropped out after about six weeks.

Besides his parents, he is survived by six brothers, all older. Leroy, Ronald and Duane of Charlotte, Iven of Onondaga, Charles and Leo of Eaton Rapids; two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Greck of Coolidge, Ariz., and Mrs. Oma Mullins of Battle Creek; grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Shoppell of Holt and several nephews and nieces.

Although the funeral date is not definite, pending word from the sister in Arizona, it will be held at the Skinner funeral home either Friday or Saturday with the Rev. Ernest Kelford officiating. Burial will be in the Arlington cemetery. Young Norris was planning to marry Phyllis Riddon of Lansing in the Fall.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following editorial reprint from last week's issue of the Charlotte Republican-Tribune explains, at least in part, why General Aluminum Products, Inc., has decided to build its new $100,000 plant in Charlotte rather than in Eaton Rapids.

Charlotte Businesses Make Important Investment

Nearly every major city, town and village in this part of the country is making some effort to get new business and industry. The competition is getting keener all the time as special incentives are offered to attract outside manufacturers.

Charlotte has been very fortunate this past year in this respect. We were not only successful in keeping an industry from passing out of the local circle through a community-wide effort, but managed to have another one of its biggest plants launch a major expansion program, brought another plant to the city and this week persuaded a county industry to move to the city's new industrial development location.

Much of the credit for these successes goes to the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce and the many members who support it. With the announcement of General Aluminum Products Company of Eaton Rapids for plans to build a $100,000 plant here, some 80 local business and professional class dug down in their pockets to the tune of $250 to raise a total of $2,000 for the Chamber to purchase four acres of land in the industrial center.

These four acres have been sold to the GAP company for $1.00 and they in turn are planning to purchase four more adjoining acres for possible future expansion. The company is currently hiring some 40 workers.

These Charlotte business men consider this gesture as an investment in the community's future as well as an expression to the management of General Aluminum Products Company of their feelings toward their choosing Charlotte as their home site.

Come Set a Bit...

Dear Mr. Editor:

I got pretty riled up the other day when I read the words of a woman who fancies herself an art connoisseur "telling off" the President of the United States when he gently criticized the selection of paintings being sent to Moscow to represent us in a show there.

These pseudo-intellectual, self-styled experts give me a pain. They're the kind that swear the rest of us are dumb clucks because surrealist paintings look like a mess of blot to us. Well, they've shown up time and time again for the counterfeits they are. Yet they are the ones delegated to pick representative American paintings to send to a belligerent country. Not what the average American accepts as good art, but what these Commie sympathizers and fellow-travelers think will impress their compatriots.

And did you get a look at the pictures of clothing presumably worn by the average American?

Average Americans don't wear the "high-style" fashion garbage so colorfully depicted in "fashion magazines"—that's just for the "brides" and for flamboyant big city people who spend their time trying to startle ordinary folks. Like show-off little kids. Probably gives their egos a lift.

Sure, we want to impress Russia. But the Russians should be shown what the average American does, uses and possesses—with this they will be impressed enough. If a few foolish people try to impress them with what we are not, it will be a lie and soon found out.

There's too much "high level" nonsense going on. Too many government people are too far away from the grass roots of our country.

and all pickles, pickles, pickles and pickled cauliflower, onions and peppers.

The pickles themselves are divided into two general classifications—processed and fresh.

Processed pickles are those manufactured from pickles cured in salt solution in large wooden vats. With the salt content of the vats carefully regulated, the pickles are cured in 90 to 120 days. They will keep in this state for two or three years but are usually packed and sold within a year.

Fresh pickles are growing steadily in popularity. It's hard to explain the difference Heifetz said, "but the fresh pickles are easy eating. You can sit down and eat a whole jar of them at one time."

It's the growing popularity of the fresh pickles that causes the seasonal rush now getting underway at the Heifetz plant, which will put about 30 percent of its total production in fresh pickles this year.

For this purpose, pickles are rushed from Brine Stock to the plant as soon as they are received and packed in their jars. They are immediately re-soaked, washed and packed in the green stage directly into glass jars.

Once the sealed jars emerge from the plant's sterilizers, through the Mason jar conveyor on endless stainless steel belts to the curing and finishing process begins automatically, lasting in three to four days of part packing, they are ready for consumption.

Fresh pickles, of course, can be canned only during the harvest season, and during that crowded period of about two months, a whole year's supply must be put up. That is the reason for hiring large numbers of temporary workers, both men and women, for August and September.

The Heifetz company and Brine Stock together regularly employ 75 to 100 persons here in the year around factory.

Present distribution of Heifetz pickles is concentrated primarily in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. The company's factory is now situated at Eaton Rapids, it is now strategically located to expand distribution.

No. 2—Questions: A Necessary Evil!

The Community Hospital Story

BY EDWARD B. MCREE
Hospital Administrator

Contrary to most prevailing thought, the many questions which the incoming hospital patient is asked to answer are not for purposes of checking up on the patient. The numerous answers may have several purposes and the information is vital to several departments of the hospital.

Primarily, every hospital is concerned that their records are accurate and that each patient remain an individual. When a patient is admitted to the hospital, six various departments must be notified of this admission in order that an account may be opened for this hospitalization. A copy must go to the insurance company so that she may promptly and efficiently file claim with the insurance company.

Since the record is one which is maintained throughout a lifetime, the ultimate need for it may be multiple. Each time you come to the hospital, your records are taken from the file so that anything which has happened in the past and might bear on your condition at the present time, can be reviewed.

Each year some 3,000 out-patients are treated at the hospital and some 2,000 people must remain in the hospital for care. To maintain this many records and have them accurate and up to date is a tremendous job. The records are used in statistical analysis, in medical research to correlate various diseases and symptoms, to study the effects of various drugs and in many other ways. Thus the information which goes into this record is not to be accurate and correct.

Through good medical records a hospital's reputation is built. Regardless of the treatment rendered, when a good medical record is kept, it can always be thoroughly checked by the accrediting agencies and by other physicians to see that the patient was properly cared for.

Although the questions may seem bothersome, they are important to you and to the hospital. From yesterday's records come tomorrow's discoveries.

Children take things very seriously and wonder about things that we sophisticated adults have long assumed were common knowledge and perfectly obvious. Yet might not we probably spend some time re-evaluating the old stock and some convenient assumptions that set the pattern for so much of life?

During these days of perpetual international crisis, with headlines and loudspeakers blaring forth the continually grim picture of man's inability to live with his fellow man, it is not the real answer to permanent peace and brotherhood. Letter from Your Congressman

As the press has reported, I (the Soviet population) would join this week in protesting of necessity have to draw the selection paintings (including a lampoon of an American general-Communist elite and intellect) all by persons with Communist affiliations for display in the current American National Exhibition in Moscow.

I questioned how this type of exhibit serves the professed United States Information Agency purpose of contributing to "further Soviet understanding of life in America."

I am amused by the taunts of "amateur art critic" and "censor" raised in some quarters as a result of my remarks.

Perhaps there will not be quite so flippant a dismissal of the recent comments of a Ukrainian writer and artist who has first-hand knowledge of Russian attitudes -- and also firsthand experience with Soviet liquidation, terrorism and torture.

Ivan Bahriany, who escaped from the Soviet regime and currently is president of a coalition of all Ukrainian democratic parties in exile in this country, had this to say during testimony under oath:

"I think that sending these paintings by these pro-Communist or Communist sculptors or painters to the Soviet Union is a great disservice to the American people and to the cause of peace."

The conclusion that I drew was that the Communist Government is sending exhibits by pro-Communist artists . . .

"This I think is not only greatly detrimental to American prestige, but also criminal because after the Hungarian uprising after the upheavals in Poland and after Tibet, now what we see is the United States trying to support the prestige, the false prestige, of the Communist system in the U.S.R."

"When we send exhibits of social satire or cartoons, this damages American prestige very strongly in the Soviet Union . . ."

For the United States Government to criticize American life through American artists in the Soviet Union is a crime. The Russians will interpret that entirely differently than we would interpret it."

If it were not so tragic -- and so bitterly ironical -- the indignation protests of Premier Khrushchev over the Captive Nations Resolution adopted by Congress would be highly amusing.

I spoke and voted for this resolution of sympathy and encouragement to the captive peoples -- even though I made the comment that the official American welcome extended Mikoyan and Kozlov might leave some of the captives of Communist tyranny confused as to whether we really meant what we said in this resolution.

This week I accepted an invitation of Radio Free Europe to make a statement on overseas broadcast regarding the hopes of the American people that there may be speedy liberation of the victims of Communist regimes behind the Iron Curtain and in Red China.

Aside from any propaganda purposes which Khrushchev may have in connection with Vice President Nixon's visit to Soviet Russia I suspect that his protest has unwittingly betrayed the deep anxiety and fear which haunts any tyrant.

The revolt in Hungary against Soviet domination, terrorism and brutality was not met with injured protestations of innocence or boasts of the freedom enjoyed under Communist rule. It was met, with tanks and machine guns.

FALLOUT SHELTERS are the best way for rural Americans to protect themselves from a possible nuclear attack which could unleash dangerous radioactive fallout throughout the country. Some of the shelters recommended by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization are not an elaborate structure as this one, which includes an auxiliary generator and an electric air filtering and venting system. However, all recommended shelters should include the basic features shown here—a place to sleep, food, water and medical supplies, and at least eight inches of concrete or an equal weight of other materials for shielding the shelter against fallout. 4-H News
By O. Raymond Lamb

Meeting new 4-H'ers is both interesting and fun. Looking for a home is another thing. Personal impressions of Eaton county and the many fine people met to date rate very high on the interest level.

Eaton county 4-H camp for 117 different country boys and girls was a wonderful experience for them and yours truly. To date I have met with the Ag committee of the Board of Supervisors, the 4-H Council, the county 4-H Service club and the 4-H Junior leaders of the county and was very much impressed with the business-like manner in which all meetings were conducted.

4-H Service Club
The Eaton County 4-H Service club elected the following officers at a regular meeting last week: Terry Edington, president; Keith Langberg, vice-president; Joyce Fogle, recording secretary; Karen Mencham, corresponding secretary; Deanna Deer, treasurer; and Charlene May, council representative.

Lemonade and cookies were served following the business meeting.

Eaton County Fair
Sid Phillips tells us that Fair areas on fertile loams and clays. On sandy lawns, or those of low fertility, red fescue is better. Combinations are effective on mixed soils, or lawns with both shade and sun.

Use a fertilizer with lots of nitrogen. An analysis of 10-6-4 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 should be applied at the rate of 15 to 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet. Finish the seed bed smooth.

Allow the seed to germinate and start growing before water is applied, but after they start, don't let the seedlings wilt.

If you are interested in obtaining more information on lawn care, call Charlotte 70 and ask for extension folders. F-214 "Care of an Established Lawn," F-211, "Making a New Lawn," or F-201, "Lawn Weed Control."

Seed Your Lawn Aug. 15 - Sept. 1
August is lawn seeding time. The usual dry weather helps in weed control, and makes the soil easier to prepare. Aug. 15 to Sept. 1 is the best time. Late seedings will not have time enough for growth and winter killing may result.

Advice for the best seeding includes: Slope the grade away from the house and spread and disk in top soil during the first two weeks of August. This will lay the dirt foundation for the seeding.

Pick the seed. Bluegrass is well adapted for open, sunny

Petrieville
Mrs. Fred Siegrist CORRESPONDENT

The V.F.W. picnic was held Sunday, July 26, at the park, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Squires.

The next stop was at Raymond Farrington's. He has a very nice flower garden -- but had quite a time trying to get out to go on the tour or to the baseball game. Baseball won out.

At Skip Murray's we found no one at home -- his brother, Tom, then arrived -- wide-eyed at so many kids and wondering why. Guess Skip forgot?

On then to Ross Tooker's to see his poultry. He has a number of outstanding chickens ready selected for the Fair. About ready to leave, and his brother, Larry, said wait a minute. He wanted to see the garden with fresh baked cookies and orange drink. A real nice treat as it was really a warm day.

Refreshed and on to the home of Gene, Jeanette and Suzanne Schneider. There we saw pigs, ducks, rabbits, poultry and flowers. Gene also showed us a 3-legged chicken -- what a freak. Gene said he doesn't use the leg to stand on -- he sits on it. Paul Miller's place was next where they saw his ducks, poultry, flower and vegetable garden.

By then the clouds were rolling so we hurried on to the home of Gary, Ray and Marsha Taylor to see their flowers, vegetables, ducks and poultry. A 3-legged cat there -- but not a freak -- the victim of the mowing machine.

Mrs. John Engel, Mrs. Shirley Taylor and leader, Mrs. Laura Serage accompanied the group. On July 2, Ross Tooker, Ray Taylor and Mrs. Laura Serage attended the tri-county poultry workshop at Anthony Hall, MSU. Paul Miller - reporter
